

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

BOOKS OF REFERENCE.

Ramshorn, or Dumesnil's Latin Synonymes, Smith's Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities, Anthon's Classical Dictionary, Mitchell's or Butler's Atlas Classica, Mitchell's Ancient Geography, Cousin's Psychology, Stewart's Philosophical Works, Locke on the Human Understanding, Edwards on the Will, Whewell's Elements of Morality.

LIBRARY, ETC.

The Library of the Institution was purchased a few years since in Europe, and consists of between four and five thousand volumes of well selected standard works in the various departments of literature and science.

The collections in the department of Natural History, embrace a valuable cabinet of Minerals, consisting of between four and five thousand specimens and suits of specimens illustrative of the Geology, Zoology and Botany of Michigan.

EXPENSES.

The only charges of the Institution are an admission fee of $10, and a sum, ranging from $5 to $7 50 a year, for room rent and the services of the Janitor, a receipt for the payment of which, signed by the Inspector of the University Buildings, must be presented to the President of the Faculty, before a student can be permitted to recite. Tuition is gratuitous. Including board, washing and books, the necessary expenses of a student, for a year, will range from $70 to $100.

GOVERNMENT.

In the Government of the Institution, the Faculty ever keep in mind that most of the students are of an age which renders absolutely necessary some substitute for parental superintendence. It is believed that no College in our country can secure public confidence without watching over the morals of its students, and making strict propriety of conduct as well as diligent application to study, a condition of membership.

Considering, therefore, the government of the students as a substitute for the regulations of home, the Faculty endeavor to bring it as near to the character of parental control as the nature of the case will admit, and to attain the end, not wholly nor chiefly by constraint and the dread of penalty, but by the influence of persuasion and kindness.

XXV

But there may be in the College, as well as in the family, or community, perverse individuals, whom nothing but the fear of penalty will influence. In respect to such, the Faculty consider themselves bound, as standing in the place of parent or guardian, to see that the student be kindly and faithfully advised and admonished, and also, that the parent be fully informed of any improper conduct of his son. If such correction prove insufficient, a regard for the best interests of such a young man, and certainly a proper care for the other members of the Institution, require that he should be removed. He has forfeited all claims on the Institution, by violating the indispensable conditions on which its advantages are to be enjoyed, and is, therefore, forthwith to be returned to his parent or guardian.

Parents are advised to appoint a guardian in Ann Arbor, to take charge of funds for the use of their sons.

No student shall be excused to return home, unless at the written request of his parent or guardian.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

The students are required to attend prayers daily in the College Chapel, and to attend public worship on the Sabbath, at such one of the churches in the village of Ann Arbor, as their parents or guardians may direct.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, which hold weekly meetings during term time, and possess valuable libraries of select and miscellaneous books.

There are two other societies, besides the regular literary associations, which having exhibited their constitutions, and adopted regulations approved by the Faculty, may, in accordance with the Laws of the Institution, admit students to membership. By those regulations, minors, in order to become members, must exhibit to the President of the Faculty the written consent of parent or guardian; and the admission of students to these societies, their time and place of meeting, (which must, unless otherwise permitted, always be within the University buildings,) and their corporate good order are under the proper supervision of the College Government.

VACATIONS.

Vacations are as follows, viz: From Commencement, the third Wednesday in July—eight weeks.

From Wednesday next preceding the 25th December—two weeks.

From the third Wednesday in April—three weeks.

OF THE COURSE OF STUDY, ETC.,
IN THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

The Annual Course of Lectures in the Medical Department, commences upon the first Wednesday in October, and continues until the third Wednesday of April.

Four lectures are given daily, except Saturdays, which latter are alternately occupied by the hearing and criticism of Theses, or by lectures during the forenoon.

Before each lecture, careful examination is conducted upon the subjects of the previous lecture. Each candidate for graduation, is required to write, and if called upon, defend a Thesis, once in two weeks.

Each candidate for graduation, must so announce himself at the close of his first, or commencement of his second course, and must be examined upon the subjects of Anatomy, Physiology, Materia Medica and Chemistry.

OF ADMISSION.

Each candidate for admission, must furnish satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and, if a candidate for graduation, also of such literary attainments as have been recommended by the National Medical Association, viz: A good English education, the knowledge of Natural Philosophy, the Elementary Mathematical Sciences, and such an acquaintance with the Latin and Greek languages as will enable the student to appreciate the technical language of medicine, and read and write prescriptions.

FEEs.

A fee of ten dollars to be paid at matriculation, entitles the student to all the privileges of permanent membership of the Medical Department. The proceeds from these fees are set apart for the increase of the Library, Museum, and other means of illustration.

Clergymen, members of the legal profession, and graduates of other respectable Medical Institutions, may be permitted to attend the course of instruction as honorary members of the class.

XXVII

OF DEGREES, ETC.

To be admitted to the degree of Doctor of Medicine, the student must exhibit evidence of having pursued the study of Medicine and Surgery for the term of three years, with some respectable practitioner of medicine, (including lecture terms;) must have attended two full courses of lectures, the last of which must have been in the Medical Department of the University of Michigan—must be twenty-one years of age—must have submitted to the Faculty a Thesis composed and written by himself on some medical subject; and have passed an examination, held at the close of the term, satisfactory to the Faculty.

An allowance of one year from the term of study, is made in favor of graduates of the Department of Science and Arts, and of other respectable literary Colleges.

Four years of respectable practice is received in lieu of one course of lectures.

The Theses of successful candidates are to be deposited among the archives of the College. The Thesis of a rejected applicant is to be returned to him.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The several Departments are enabled to illustrate fully the various topics embraced in the course; but it is deemed unnecessary to enter into details in this place, as an announcement for the ensuing course will be issued soon.

Notwithstanding the unusual duration of the Medical term, and the uncertainty attendant upon the success of a new Medical College, it is a source of gratification to all interested in the welfare of this institution, to observe the remarkable prosperity which has thus far attended it.

It is believed that the present class, already large, almost beyond precedent in the history of Medical Colleges, will be still further augmented in number, at the next session. Every effort will be made on the part of the Regents and Faculty, to still further increase the advantages for instruction.

The co-operation of the Profession generally is respectfully solicited, as upon the rank assumed by this institution, will depend, not only its own character, but also, as it is believed, to a great extent, the grade of medical education throughout the State.

Any further information desired, may be obtained by addressing the President or Secretary of the Medical Faculty, at Ann Arbor.
